

Alex Example

Product Analyst · Data & Automation

Lisbon, Portugal · hello@example.com · portfolio.example.com · linkedin.com/in/your-handle

SAMPLE DOCUMENT — FICTIONAL PERSON AND EMPLOYERS

Product analyst with an operations background. I turn recurring product questions into analyses the team can act on, automate the reporting that comes back every week, and prefer a useful first version to a perfect plan.

EXPERIENCE

Product Analyst — Northwind Studio, Lisbon

March 2025 – present

- Own the product analytics model: event definitions, weekly usage reporting and experiment read-outs for two product teams.
- Replaced a manual weekly report with an automated one that answers the team's standing questions.
- Contribute evidence to roadmap decisions: what is used, where people drop off, which ideas the numbers support.

Data Analyst — Northwind Studio, Lisbon

June 2023 – March 2025

- Built and maintained dashboards in SQL, dbt and a BI tool for product and support teams.
- Introduced data-quality checks that run before every refresh.
- Explained numbers to the people who had to act on them; wrote the definitions the team still uses.

Operations Analyst — Harbourline Logistics, Porto

February 2021 – June 2023

- Weekly reporting for a busy operations floor: late deliveries, capacity and staffing.
- Replaced a stack of spreadsheets with a small set of reports people actually opened.

Customer Support, then Operations — Harbourline Logistics, Porto

2019 – 2021

- Support desk for business customers; first root-cause analyses of recurring problems.

EDUCATION

Bachelor of Business Administration (part-time)

Example University, Lisbon · 2022 – present

CERTIFICATES

Data Analytics Certificate

Example Academy · 2024

Project Management Certificate

Example Academy · 2024

TOOLKIT

- SQL, dbt, PostgreSQL
- Python for loading, checks and automation
- Power BI and spreadsheets people already use
- n8n and small scripts for repeat work
- Git, GitHub, Jira

LANGUAGES

- Portuguese (native), English (fluent)

This is the sample CV bundled with the Career Portfolio Template. Alex Example, Northwind Studio, Harbourline Logistics, Example University and Example Academy are fictional. Replace this file with your own CV.